GOVERNOR KILBY
DECLINES TO CALL
EXTRA SESSION TO CHANGE TAX LAWS

Answers Col. W. F. Garth, Refusing to Comply With Requests

EXECUTIVE DECLARES
TAXES NOT OPPRESSIVE

No More Money Received Than Necessary, the Governor Asserts

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., May 18.—

Governor Kilby told W. F. Garth, chairman of the Alabama Tax Payers' League, in a formal letter Tuesday that he cannot comply with the request for an extra session of the legislature for the abolition of tax adjusters and for other changes in state laws as suggested by the league because "compliance with the requests would be a blow to the best interests and welfare of Alabama and its people, from which recovery might not be expected for many years to come."

Governor Kilby repeated the resolution adopted by the league in meeting in Montgomery April 27 and answered each suggestion regarding changes in the tax system and reduction in expenses. He asserted that the present tax rate is not oppressive, that no more money is going into the state treasury now than is necessary to meet appropriations and to pay the legitimate cost of maintaining the state's institutions.

He asserted that eleven of the fifteen counties which acknowledged representation in the state tax meeting drew from the state treasury more than they pay in and declared that the ratio can be maintained throughout the state as fifty-one of the sixty-seven counties obtain more money from the state than they pay to it. The eleven counties brought into the governor's statement pay into the state treasury $1,187,490.41 and draw out $1,235,678.20.

Governor Kilby also declared that the assessment of property in Alabama is not arbitrary and that a taxpayer may appeal from the assessor to the board of revenue, from the board of revenue to the jury, from the jury to the court of appeals and hence to the supreme court. "Even the life and liberty of a man is not protected by any appeals," continued the statement.

Attention was called to the fact that only a few hundred appeals were taken last year from the decisions of the tax adjusters and that in thirty-three counties not a single appeal was taken. The Governor insisted that this was positive proof that not many persons were dissatisfied with their assessments.

Answering that portion of the resolution which requested the abolition of the board of control and law enforcement department, the Governor said the board of control saved to the state the first year's of its operation $105,542.84 and that the law enforcement department should continue to be an agency of the state which can supplement the activities of the other organized enforcement officers.

He declared that he would rather his hand should wither and fall to his side than that it should sign a call for a legislature which would abolish the state child welfare department and the home for mental defectives.

Referring to the demand that the construction of "the proposed two million dollar penitentiary in Montgomery" be discontinued, Governor Kilby said he had no information about a prison costing such a sum, but that the state does propose to construct in Montgomery a prison costing approximately one-fourth that sum, which will care for the convicts after January 1, 1922, in the event it is not possible to work them lawfully in the mines after that time.

He also declared the state prison is obsolete and inadequate. He invited Mr. Gerth to visit the Speigner prison and said he believed if the visit had been made before the tax convention every reference to the construction of the new prison would have been erased from the resolution.

He denied that any unnecessary officials and employees are now stationed in the capitol and insisted that the

Seay Sets Fire
to His Bedding;
is Quiet Today

F. W. Seay, alleged wife murderer, brought here from Florence for safe keeping, this morning appeared to be nearer normal, following an afternoon and night of more or less excitement. Seay ate breakfast this morning, a dish of eggs and coffee, after complaining to jail authorities that they had the poorest service he had ever seen.

"When I was home and wanted eggs or ham, I got them," he said. This morning's meal was the first food the prisoner has eaten since his arrival here.

Seay frightened other inmates of the jail yesterday afternoon late when he set fire to the bedding of his jail cot and added parts of his clothing to the bon fire. Later being discovered in the act of butting his head against his cell sides, jail authorities said, Dr. Chenault, local physician was called on and gave the prisoner medical treatment.

Jail authorities this morning stated Seay was rather noisy during the night, but no more outbreaks were reported. Several Florence residents came here last night to take a look at the prisoner. There was no additional guard at the jail last night, officials stated.

Block is Burned
in Carbon Hill

(International News Service)

CARBON HILL, ALA., May 18.—

Almost an entire block in the heart of the business section of this city was destroyed by fire that raged from 10 o'clock Tuesday night until past midnight within approximately loss of $80,000.

Principal buildings destroyed were the Pierce hotel, the Shannon building, which has a number of stores, and a two-story brick building also occupied by several stores.

The fire originated in the Green restaurant. Quick work by the volunteer fire department prevented spreading of the fire. An area the length of the block between two brick blocks was burned completely.

Japan Outlines

(International News Service)

TOKIO, May 18.—Although official confirmation is refused, the press states today that it is reliably informed that the general colonial conference meeting in secret at the second day's session adopted the general lines along which Japan is willing to return Shantung to China.

Evacuation of Siberia also is understood to have been agreed upon, although certain concessions will be demanded in connection with the withdrawal, it is stated.

The foreign and war offices are said to be in disagreement upon this question and the matter will not be finally settled until they reach an agreement.

LITTLE HOPE HELD
FOR THE RECOVERY OF CHIEF JUSTICE

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The recovery of Chief Justice White, of the U. S. Supreme court, who is seriously ill at Garfield hospital, is not expected, a statement issued by his physician late this morning.

The statement of the physician follows: "Chief Justice White was operated on Friday night last. Although in a serious condition for some months passed, he postponed the operation as he felt his presence at the court was imperative. His progress was satisfactory with normal pulse and temperature until Tuesday afternoon, when acute dilation of the heart occurred. He has not rallied from this condition, and his recovery is not expected."

The last rites of the Catholic church have been administered to the Chief Justice it was announced at the hospital. Late yesterday afternoon the aged judge suffered a chill after which his condition declined. Late last night he lapsed into unconsciousness and was still in that state this morning.

The Chief Justice was born in the parish of LaFourch, La., November 3, 1845. He served in the Confederate army during the civil war. Before going upon the bench of the Supreme court, Mr. White served in the United States Senate. He was appointed to the bench by President Cleveland in 1894 and was elevated to Chief Justice in 1910 by President Taft.

He is survived by 4 sons, G. B. Moore, Jr., J. A. Moore, H. A. Moore, W. J. Moore, and one daughter, Mrs. E. S. Besant.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Board Declares Wages Will be Cut Effective on First of July

DESIRE IS EVIDENT TO AWARD FULL DETAILS

General Expression is That Decrease Will Approximate 12 Per Cent

CHICAGO, May 18.—"What will labor do?" was the question that became uppermost today as the result of announcement of the United States Railway Labor Board, that wages of railroad employes will be revised downward, effective July 1.

Upon the attitude taken by the labor organizations, observers declared hinges the question of peace in the railway industry. No inkling of their attitude or intentions was forthcoming from leaders of the railway workers here.

It was the evident desire of the men await the full details of the board's plans before making definite statements. Railroad heads, however, were inclined to see better times ahead for the roads as a result of the ruling.

In railway executive circles there also was manifest a disposition to await fuller details.

The extent of the reduction to be made is unknown and was not made public by the board. It was the general belief, however, that the wage cut will aggregate approximately 12 per cent. Unskilled employes of the roads will be chiefly affected.

Percentages of increases granted to skilled workmen by the board's decision of July, 1920, was not so great, hence it was believed that reductions to be made for them will be less.

FRANKLIN K. LANE

DIED EARLY TODAY

AFTER TREATMENT

ROCHESTER, MINN., May 18.—

—Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the Interior in President Wilson's cabinet, died here early today. Mr. Lane came here several weeks ago for treatment at the Mayo Brothers sanitarium.

SENDS CONDOLENCE

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The death of Franklin K. Lane, former secretary of the interior, has taken away an "outstanding American" President Harding said today in a message of condolence to Mrs. Lane, at Rochester, Minn.

The President telegraphed Mrs. Lane as follows. I have just learned of the death of your distinguished husband and am wiring to express my very great shock and my exceedingly deep sorrow over his untimely passing. He was an outstanding American who rendered most distinguished service to his country and found an abiding place in the affections of all who knew him. Mrs. Harding joins me in an expression of most sympathetic condolence. (Signed) Warren G. Harding.

Since his resignation from the cabinet, the former Secretary had been engaged in the oil business.

BRITAIN NOT TO
SEE THE TREATY
TRAMPLED UPON

LONDON, May 18.—Great Britain will not stand aside and see the peace treaty trampled upon, declared Premier Lloyd George today in serving a new warning on Poland.

"Having gone through the great war in which we sustained gigantic losses, in defense of the old treaty whereunto this country was a party, Great Britain cannot consent to stand by while the peace treaty which our representatives signed less than two years ago, is being trampled upon," said the Premier.

The Premier continued: "British, American and Italian opinion means to apply the peace treaty terms justly whether for or against Germany. The status of Upper Silesia must be decided by the Supreme council, not by Korfantry."

BOND ISSUE FOR SCHOOL REFERRED TO COUNCIL UNIT

An ordinance providing for an election on the issuance of bonds amounting to $250,000 for erection of a new school and providing equipment for present schools in Albany, was introduced at the regular meeting of the council last night. The ordinance was referred to the finance committee for consideration and it was expected the measure would be reported out Thursday night at a special meeting to be held at the city hall.

Chief of Police Hendrix last night was given instructions to rid the city of vagrants and the police department will open a drive immediately against that class of offenders.

Considerable time was taken up with the discussion of the sanitary condition of the city.

U. S. in Argument

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 18.—The first attempt to draw the United States government into the controversy over Upper Silesia which is now menacing the peace of the world, has resulted in a total failure, it was learned here today.

An informal request for American support of the Franco-Polish position in the controversy was lodged with Secretary of State Hughes by the Polish minister here.

First Sign Given

British Coal Strike

LONDON, May 18.—The first sign of a break in the great British coal strike came today. STATE CONVENTION
EXPECTED TO NAME
OFFICIALS DURING
AFTERNOON SESSION

Many Routine Questions Occupy Attention of Labor Delegates Today

NEW REGULATION ON LABEL IS ADOPTED

Delegates Required to Wear Only Union Made Garments to Convention

The Alabama State Federation of Labor was expected to elect its officers for the ensuing year at this afternoon's session when it was planned also to select the 1922 convention city.

First order of Wednesday morning session was the reading of the Annual report of Vice-president Sam C. Hunt, of Sheffield, and a member of the State Executive Council of the Federation. Mr. Bowen, the secretary, read a personal letter from Mr. Hunt to the convention stating that the Railway Labor problems were now claiming his attention. Mr. Hunt's address was one of the most able and thorough going reports of the convention.

He recited how industrial depression had affected his district and expressed the conviction that he believed such conditions were the result of conspiracy. He attacked the open shop movement in a vigorous manner.

"The public will not be deceived by the open shop propaganda," it knows the difference between a hawk and a hand saw; putting a mule and a horse in the same stable does not change their nature; a union shop is a union shop and a non-union shop is non-union shop in a non-union shop."

"Quoting ex-President Taft, 'Organized effort is here to stay. The interest of labor and capital must inevitably differ. We must give them a chance to meet together so they can settle these differences as they arise.' Mr. Taft said as a member of the wage commission during the war, 'that the right to organize should not be interfered with, by any person.'"

A number of strong resolutions were passed at the Tuesday afternoon session pledging moral and material aid to the Union Miners of the Birmingham District, and many delegates and speakers expressed sympathy.

Changes in the constitution were made raising the number of the Executive Council from seven to thirteen and authority was given this board to elect its own special committee from its own number. Under the old rule the members of the Executive Council outside of President Harrison and Secretary-treasurer Bowen, were M. E. Barganier, E. W. Scherman, A. P. Ezell, Sam C. Hunt, and W. R. McCluskey.

Mr. McCluskey's report to the convention proved to be one of the most extensive and high minded heard to date in its conceptions of duty of any member of the Executive Council.

Mr. McCluskey came out strong for true and honest brotherhood among the Industrial Brotherhoods and contended that the Fatherhood of God; and the brotherhood of man in its Christian conception should be recognized.

UNION LABELS

Amid cheers a resolution was passed unanimously, which ordered that every delegate to future state conventions of the State Federation of Labor have the Union label on all his wearing apparel or else he will not be seated.

This resolution annulled a previous one demanding that every delegate have five Union labels on his wearing apparel.

The strong speech by Secretary Bowen in favor of going the limit for Union label goods had much to do with conventions action.

J. L. Busby, president of the Trades Council, Birmingham, also spoke for the total number of labels, he said "that Samuel Gompers had said in a public statement that if every Union man and woman would spend as much as a dollar a month on Union label goods, such action would unionize the United States industries in one year time."

Thomas Hammond, a Union Miner delegate, offered a resolution demanding that no man should be retained in the Labor movement for more than two years who did not support all candidates.

HARDING IS SURPRISE

Irrespective of whether or not Senator Harding's colleagues actually engineered the political coup which landed him in the presidency, his nomination was sufficiently popular with the Republican members thereof to cause the latter to work unceasingly for the success of the Republican ticket.

Since it is a well remembered fact that the nomination of the Senator was taken at the time to mean a considerable step toward depression of executive authority in governmental affairs, President Harding's recent course probably is as disappointing to the Senatorial Old Guard as it is agreeably surprising to the general public.

Without displaying any undue concern for the preferences of the Senate, Mr. Harding has managed to entangle and untangle himself from various foreign affairs—and all without the consent of the Senatorial group.

The new President hopped into the Panama muddle with considerable heat; dispatched a few notes to Germany anent reparations; theoretically sailed into Japan over the Yap mandate question; called the British hand on the Mesopotamia oil swindle and generally has been kicking up a pretty lively row in an international way.

His latest affront of senatorial dignity was his decision to "sit in" at the European council tables. In the meantime he calmly holds up in the House the much heralded Knox peace resolution—a senate contribution.

The President is showing a mind of his own!

ALBANY ENTERTAINS EDITORS

The Alabama Press Association met in Albany last Thursday and Friday, in annual session. The attendance was disappointing, only forty-four editors and publishers registering for the convention. The program—that part of it that was completed—was entertaining and helpful to the members. As a convention city Albany is all that could be desired.

The City of Albany is one of the most progressive cities of the Tennessee Valley, and during the past decade has made wonderful strides. It is easily one of the best mercantile centers of North Alabama and enjoys a large trade. Industrially the city is coming to the front. Formerly the only industry was the railroad shops. But today many substantial industries are adding to the wealth of the city, and making for the future development of that immediate section. To enumerate the several industries would require too much space, but suffice it to say that there are enough industries in Albany to make a steady and regular volume of business in the duller periods.

Albany holds the record for street paving. The city has more miles of paved streets—completed and under course of construction—than any city of its size in the South. A fine sewerage system, the several public service corporations furnish the other necessary utilities for a modern city.

A Chamber of Commerce that is alive to the opportunities coming to the South, with a vision for greater development, is another great asset of the city. The president of this civic organization is a young business man who has made a success of his own business, and who possesses the happy faculty of expanding the virtues of his home city, and conveying to his hearers an enthusiasm that is infectious. Mr. Rahm, president of the Chamber of Commerce was an ideal host and the visiting editors agreed that he was the dynamo of things civic in that city.

A good daily newspaper is another asset of the community. The Albany-Decatur Daily is one of the good small city papers and it has had a large part in the making of prosperity in its field.

The people of Albany and Decatur believe there is oil in that section. They believe it so strong that they have put their money into a company and actual drilling operations have been started. The experts in charge of the drilling are confident of striking the "mother pool" and gushers galore will be common sights in the near future.

It was The Standard editor's good luck to meet with an old friend—an old in years, but the friendship was a long standing—and to this friend and his accomplished wife we are indebted for a most delightful afternoon and a most charming entertainment. Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Edmondson entertained Hon. W. W. Brandon, Editor Doty and the writer at luncheon, Friday, at their beautiful home, "Wilder Place." A beautiful plantation home, within easy distance of city life, makes this handsome estate one of the most attractive places in North Alabama.

Mrs. Edmondson is one of Alabama's accomplished daughters; one who has travelled much, read much, and who has kept abreast of the times on all public questions. Recently she delivered an address at the Bankhead Highway Association meeting, in North Carolina and her address was the feature of the meeting. While giving much time to the consideration of public questions, civic affairs and the like, Mrs. Edmondson has not lost that charm of manner so typical of the Southern women. Her home is noted for that hospitality that made the Tennessee Valley famous.

"The Wilder Place" is a magnificent estate and is one large plantation that has put into practice the diversified program.

The entertainment feature of the press meeting was the banquet given to the editors by the Morgan County Kiwanis Club. It was one of the most enjoyable affairs were staged in the Twin Cities. The program was one of "pep", good fellowship and music, interspersed with toasts that reflected both good sense, wit and humor.

A visit to the silk mill was another interesting event. Visitors were shown how silk cloth was made and samples were given to each visitor.

Decatur provided adequate hotel accommodations for the visitors and right here it must be stated that no better hotels can be found anywhere. The Decatur people are a progressive set and this is reflected in the excellent hotels of the city.

The editors were treated royally by the Twin Cities, and there will always be most pleasant recollections of the meeting in these cities.—Sheffield Standard.

OLD SPELLERS AND NEW

Who are the best spellers, the old grads or the students of today? One big high school which celebrates its diamond jubilee this year proposes to find out, by matching an alumni team against a student team in an old-fashioned spell down. Any one who ever attended the school is eligible to the alumni team, and boys and girls from all classes will make up the student team. It sounds like good fun.

Many persons hold, like the president of the aforesaid alumni, that in these days people have too much of their thinking done for them; that their memories are not cultivated sufficiently to make them good spellers, or good for independent thinking along any lines. On the other hand, there is the word of the educator that his boys and girls of today are just as able as his boys and girls of thirty years ago. Nothing like getting them together to see.

Whoever wins, everybody will be all cheered up, and for a little while at least the youngsters and their seniors will meet on common ground. The oftener this happens in any community, the better.—Tuscaloosa News.

EDITORS TO RUN A CITY

Newspaper editors frequently tell city officials how to run municipal affairs, but rarely are they given a chance to carry out their ideas in practice. One of these rare experiences has come to two North Carolina journalists who have been entrusted with the administration of the government of Wilmington by the citizens of that prosperous town, one acting as mayor and the other as a commissioner sharing responsibility with the mayor. The two men are James H. Cowan, for many years editor of the Evening Dispatch, and Joseph E. Thompson, for twenty years identified with the Morning Star, the oldest morning paper in North Carolina.

We know of no reason why these two experienced newspaper men should not give Wilmington an efficient and progressive administration. Mr. Cowan, the mayor, has been secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Collector of Customs, and Mr. Thompson, the commissioner, has had an all-round experience in the insurance field and in newspaper work. They have the confidence and esteem of their fellow citizens and will, no doubt, discharge their duties with credit to themselves and the city.

It must be said, however, that men who have been long identified with newspaper editing or publishing seldom find contentment in any other occupation. There is a certain fascination about journalism that is irresistible to those who have once felt its charm. Other kinds of work seem tame and commonplace compared with it. Of course, it's a fine thing to be mayor of a thriving city like Wilmington, but there are some sharply defined limitations to that position. The mayor must be the servant of the party that elected him to office. He must be guided in his acts by the wishes of party leaders. He is the target of criticism and unless he is a diplomatist he will make more enemies than friends.

An editor is more independent, unless he conducts a party organ, and wields a wider influence. If he keeps himself free from entangling alliances, he is in a position to view public questions from an impartial standpoint and can therefore command a wide consideration of his views. That English editor who once said he had rather be Editor of the London Times than be the King of England was not very far away from the truth.—Editor and Publisher.

Gov. Kilby Declines Call Extra Session

insinuation that state officials had on the pay rolls employees who were not essential to the progress of the state had done an injustice to men who were conscientious and trustworthy and who could obtain larger salaries in business than they are being paid by the state.

Answering the last provision of the resolution, which called for the re-assessment of all real property this year, Governor Kilby said it could not be done because a lowering of values would withhold money necessary for appropriations already made, would mean another cut in the salaries of school teachers, who now receive an average salary annually of $443, and would reduce appropriations for Confederate pensioners and eleemosynary institutions. He also said the reassessment could not be legally ordered and cited in support of this statement an opinion of the attorney-general, which he said was the only authority an official of the state may follow in the absence of a decision of the courts.

Governor Kilby also declared that the assessment of property during the past two years has put many counties and cities on their feet financially. They are now able to borrow funds with which to finance needed improvements. Particular attention was called to the recent action of the voters of Madison county in providing for a bond issue of two hundred thousand dollars for public roads. Governor Kilby told Mr. Gerth this bond issue would not have been permissible had not increases in property valuations last year because Madison's debt on January 1 would have been so large an additional bond issue of two hundred thousand dollars would have put the total beyond the limit.

Attention also was called to the fact that the state is attempting to put all classes on the same basis and that the assessments of between fifty and seventy-five large corporations had been set aside in the hope that an order may be obtained from the Supreme court which will permit the examination of their books, thus establishing a basis for taxation.

Governor Kilby closed his letter with an appeal to Mr. Gerth and members of the league to "forget tribal cusoms" and join in a movement which will establish good schools, good roads, good citizenship and steady progress in Alabama. "For surley when these have been our accomplishments we will blot from our minds any suggestion of the burdens of taxation," concluded Governor Kilby.

BILIOUS CHILDREN

Black-Draught, Long in Successful Use, Praised by an Arkansas Mother, "Soon Does Its Work."

Marmaduke, Ark.—Speaking of Theford's Black-Draught, which from long use in her household has become regarded as "the family medicine," Mrs. Mary E. Hill, of Route 1, this place, says:

"When the children get bilious, I give them a couple of good doses, and when we have sour stomach, headache, or any liver or stomach trouble, we use Black-Draught. It is an easy laxative, and soon does the work. I certainly think it is one of the best remedies made."

Black-Draught acts on the liver, gently, but positively, and helps it in its important function of throwing out waste materials and poisons from the system.

In thousands of households Black-Draught is kept handy for immediate use in time of need. Prompt treatment often is half the battle, and will often prevent slight ills from developing into serious troubles.

Its well-established merit, during more than 70 years of successful use, should convince you of the helpful effects obtainable by taking Black-Draught for liver and stomach ailments. Get a package today, and keep it in your house. See that the package bears the words, "Theford's Black-Draught." NO-141

TWINS CONTINUE TO RUN BASES WELL; RUSSELLVILLE PUT UNDER 4 TO 3 SCORE

Albany-Decatur Get Away to Lead in Second and Never Headed

McDUFF STARS AT BAT AND IN THE FIELD

Lauderman Puts Up Splendid Fielding Exhibition at Third Base

The Twins continued their winning streak yesterday afternoon defeating Russellville in the second game of the season 4 to 3. The second contest, from a baseball standpoint, proved very much better than did the opening game.

The Twins showed the value of good base running when they made one more error and three less hits and one more run than Russellville.

The locals made their hits count, bunching four with an error in the second for a three run lead which Russellville was never able to overcome.

McDuff started the fireworks with a drive to left, the first hit off Nicholson. McClain beat out a hit to short, McDuff taking second. With the infield drawn in Lauderman crossed the visitors' by bunting past third for a safety, McDuff scoring. Scott tossed past Haynes in an effort to stop McClain and the latter counted, Lauderman taking second. Johnson beat out another hit to short and Lauderman went to third. Etheridge hit to Nicholson and Lauderman slid for the plate, Nicholson then playing for and nabbing Johnson on a force out, at second. It was pretty work by the Twins and they were given a hearty hand by the fans.

The winning run was sent across in the third on Carter's walk, McDuff's single and McClain's sacrifice fly. McDuff hammered out three hits yesterday and made several pretty catches at second. Lauderman, in addition to playing a stellar role in the scoring in the second, put up a splendid fielding game at third, accepting five hard chances without an error.

This fellow Scott, who performs in the short field for Russellville, bids fair to become a member of somebody's all star aggregation. Scott's fielding in the first two games has been a feature.

Etheridge and Nicholson both twirled well yesterday, wobbly support at times keeping them in hot water practically throughout the game. Johnson, the Twin's new catcher showed up well.

State Convention Expected to Name

didates for office as recommended by the authorities of A. F. of L. He quoted from America our country is referred to as the sweet land of liberty.

"The only liberty I see in Alabama is where I see it in the Song Book," he said. This was greeted amid loud cheers.

Mr. Hammond's resolution was recommended.

A resolution, introduced by Miss Susie McAnear and M. H. Crow, of the local clerk's union, was adopted. It urged labor union people to ask for the union label at all times.

W. E. Spain, chairman of the organization committee, read his report, urging an active campaign of organization.

Fraternal Delegates Heard.

Friendly greetings from two representatives of the Four Railroad Brotherhoods and from the state Farmer's Union, featured the opening of Tuesday afternoon's session. Chas. M. Dinsmore, President of the organized Farmer's of Alabama was introduced in a most cordial manner by Mr. Harrison, who said in the legislative work of organized labor had been greatly facilitated at Montgomery by the loyal and timely aid of Mr. Dinsmore, as the spokesman of the farmer's organizations.

"It has always been a pleasure and privilege for me to endorse the bills presented by the labor representatives," said Mr. Dinsmore. "The settled policy of every organization of industrial workers, is to draw into closer and closer fellowship." The speaker explained that while the farmers were not formally in politics, that they reserved the right to examine the official record of all candidates and to defeat unfriendly candidates from constables to governor.

Mr. Dinsmore invited the delegates to attend the state convention of the Farmer's Union which is to meet in Birmingham August 18. John R. T. Rives, of Birmingham, state legislative committee chairman for the Brotherhood of Conductors was cordially received, he said that this order had voted to affiliate with the American Federation of Labor, and that it was that organization's place now to say what the future relation of his brotherhood and the A. F. of L. should be. He said that as long as the railroads retained the overwhelming raise in freight rates given them, he did not see how they could hope to reduce the wages of their employees.

"Out of every dollar the roads took, they gave only seventy five cents to the wage earners," he declared. The speaker said that despite reports to the contrary, that in his judgment the A. B. and A. strike was proving very disastrous to the railroad interests. He said that he believed that all the railroads were financing the A. B. and A., and declared that the workers should do the same thing for the striking employees. R. C. Cadden of the Fireman and Enginemen, said that he endorsed the words of Mr. Rives, and contented himself by extending cordial greetings to the convention.

Committee Makes Report.

At the conclusion of the addresses of the fraternal delegates, several committee chairmen made announcements for special meetings, and then Robert Moore, Chairman of the Resolutions committee, was recognized. Mr. Moore held a voluminous roll of documents under his arm, and started off with a grid determination to see his task through; but after about an hour's hard work he took a rest and called to his assistance H. K. Laatsch, secretary of the committee who took a turn at reading.

The most sensational resolution to pass was that demanding the "political death" of Governor Kilby. As the wordy denunciation of the Governor proceeded, broad smiles of merriment spread over the faces of most of the leaders of the convention, as if they were enjoying "roast" and language chastisement that was being administered to the Governor. Mr. Kilby was described as having very marked "Kaiseristic" tendencies. His religion was described as one of "profit" and his "God as made of gold." The resolutions charged that the Governor, had sent "machine guns" and "explosive bullets" into the mining district of Alabama to do away with the civilian rights of a free people. All this was in the "resolution" department of the indictment. Under the "resolutions" the eternal political burial of "Thomas E. Kilby" was demanded.

Vocational Training Endorsed.
The resolution calling for the endorsement by organized labor of the efforts of the Federal government to furnish vocational training to disabled soldiers and sailors as submitted by Ed. Henley of New Orleans, regional director for the states of Alabama, Mississippi and Louisiana, O. R. Stump, of Birmingham, Field Representative and S. L. Whitehead of the Birmingham office, was passed without opposition.

Mrs. Ida Lytton, the only woman delegate to appear on the stage, of the convention so far, got a resolution endorsed amid cheers, demanding the "Union Label" on all goods and commodities bought by union men and women. Mrs. Lytton said "the Union label is our best weapon against the 'open shop movement'."

T. U. Strike Endorsed.
A resolution by Robert White, of the Birmingham Typographical union, urging full backing by the federation of the present strike of printers for the 44 hour week, was endorsed amid enthusiasm. Mr. White spoke forcefully in support of his resolution, dwelling especially on his conviction that the attempt to defeat the offered contract of the printers was not only a stroke at five international unions—which the speaker said was sure to fail, but at organized labor everywhere.

Compensation Law.
A number of resolutions were introduced by D. C. Jones, a delegate from the Railroad Carmen's Union, of Albany, the last one of which had reference to Alabama's recently enacted workingman's compensation act. Two members of the legislature that passed the act were in the convention, Mr. Barganier and president Harrison. The latter took issue with some statements in Mr. Jones' resolution, one of which being the statement that only 12 dollars a week was allowed, for men off from their work on account of injury. Mr. Jones' resolution was finally referred back to the resolution committee, which had reported it favorably. During the discussion Mr. Ezell, vice-president from Anniston occupied the chair.

In all about fifty resolutions were passed at the afternoon session. The attempt to bind the convention to close on Wednesday afternoon, as led by Mr. Ezell, failed, after some discussion, as a regular motion to adjourn without instructions prevailed.

You'll enjoy the sport of rolling 'em with P. A.!

FIRST thing you do next—go get some makin' papers and some Prince Albert tobacco and puff away on a home made cigarette that will hit on all your smoke cylinders!

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good, for man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness—well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly if you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a smoke revelation in a jimmy pipe or a cigarette!
